

BROAD VIEW OF TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. John H. Lowman Speaks at Opening Meeting of National Society.

FAMILY INTEREST HIGHER THAN THE INDIVIDUAL'S

Dr. Hatfield Reports Gain of 10 Per cent in the Sale of Red Cross Seals Last Year.

The problems involved in the study and prevention of tuberculosis are so complex, he declared from the standpoint of the individual, but must be considered from the broader viewpoint of society, was the declaration of Dr. John H. Lowman of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, at the opening session of the association's tenth annual meeting at the New Willard Hotel today. In his address, President Lowman said in part: "In the early discussions of tuberculosis, and for many years afterward, the various activities of the movement were directed from the standpoint of the individual. The health of the infected person, his contagiousness, isolation, care and cure were considered from his own vantage point. But gradually a broader view was taken, and the consideration of the man alone came to be regarded as a part of a great question. "If the biological unit in the development of the social fabric of the human race is the family, can we safely proceed with the restoration of this social fabric with the individual as the pathological unit?"

Solution of the Problem.

"For the continuation of the race the individual is nothing unless he allies himself with the first great natural group, which is the family. "Although it was altogether natural that attention should at first be centered on the individual, because he was so much in evidence and easily became the object of study, it was a lack of appreciation of the whole question that obscured the fact that the conditions that produced this individual must be the overriding consideration in the solution of the problem. "Too great individualism, too much concentration on the patient, isolated too sharply the man in trouble as well as the social agent who strives to help him and isolate the society in which both are so intimately concerned. The tuberculosis question cannot be treated from the standpoint of the individual alone."

Review of Ten Years' Work.

A review of ten years' work in the anti-tuberculosis campaign in the United States was one of the significant features touched upon in the report of the executive office at the opening session. When the association opened its office, in the winter of 1905, there were less than 150 agencies engaged in anti-tuberculosis work in the United States, and for the most part those that were in existence were poorly equipped. After ten years of work there were today over 2,500 such agencies, including over 550 tuberculosis sanatoria and hospitals, 450 dispensaries, nearly 1,200 anti-tuberculosis associations and fully 250 open-air schools and fresh-air classes, besides a considerable number of boards of health and other agencies which are taking an active part in this campaign.

Committees Are Named.

The committee on nominations, chosen at the opening session today, was composed of Dr. Walter Steiner, Hartford, Conn.; Dr. William Charles White, Pittsburgh; Dr. E. H. Bishop, Jr., Cleveland; Paul Kennedy, New York; and Dr. H. M. Bracken, St. Paul. This committee is to present the names of twelve candidates for membership on the board of directors of the association. The candidates are to be voted on by the present board tomorrow, and the board will also elect officers for the year at a session at noon tomorrow.

Following is the committee on resolutions named today: Dr. C. E. M. Kober, Washington; William H. Baldwin, Washington; Frederick L. Hoffman, New York; J. J. Thomsen, St. Louis; Chicago, and Dr. Lawrence Litvinsky, Pittsburgh.

Meetings of the clinical, pathological and sociological sections of the association occupied the afternoon, papers touching on a wide range of subjects concerned with the treatment and study of tuberculosis being presented. A meeting of the advisory council of the organization, to be held in the ballroom of the New Willard Hotel at 8:15 o'clock this evening.

GOVERNMENT TO BUILD ONE.

Decision of the House Regarding Two New Battleships.

One of the two battleships to be built by authorization of the present naval appropriation bill will be built in a government navy yard, according to the action of the House of Representatives today. After a fight against any such action, brought by congressmen who have big shipyards in their districts, the House overwhelmingly adopted the suggestion of Representative Roberts of Massachusetts to equip one navy yard with the proper machinery, for the building of one ship, and appropriating $200,000 for such equipment.

FEAR FOR THE BRIDGES.

Recent Rains Cause High Water in Arkansas River.

WICHITA, Kan., May 7.—The Arkansas river at this point today reached the mark known in twenty years. Flood waters due to recent heavy rains in western Kansas and eastern Colorado have sent the stream ten feet above low water mark, causing the railroads to fear for the safety of bridges. Missouri Pacific and the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific have run stringers of freight cars on the structures and set men with picks to work to steer logs and trees past the bridge. The river is believed to have reached its maximum height.
